

Privacy Policy

Brendon Books is committed to protecting the privacy of those using our site and the confidentiality of the personal information which our customers provide us with. This policy covers the information we collect from you to process orders, provide services, and for marketing purposes. Brendon Books will never sell personal information under any circumstances. Brendon Books will never share personal information with third parties unless strictly necessary in order to provide services to you or fulfil your order.

If you have signed up to any of our email newsletters, Brendon Books will send you emails periodically showing you book news, event details, and similar. If at any time you wish to remove your details from the mailing list, simply click the unsubscribe link in any of our newsletters.

The uses for which we collect information include administering any accounts (usually schools or other institutions), processing and obtaining payment, preventing or detecting fraud, and running any prize draws or competition you may enter. In so doing we will provide your personal information to our employees only for such purposes as are strictly necessary.

You have the following rights under the GDPR:

- Request access to your personal data.
- Request correction of your personal data.
- Request erasure of your personal data.
- Object to processing of your personal data.
- Request restriction of processing your personal data.
- Request transfer of your personal data.
- Right to withdraw consent.

If you are unhappy about how we are using your information or how we have responded to your request then you should contact brendonbooks@gmail.com or write to us at Brendon Books, Old Brewery Buildings, Bath Place, Taunton TA1 4ER.
